Then, a few words on the workshop just held in Sarzana, Italy. The workshop brought together partner organisations and schools in a collaborative and inspiring setting.

Two participating schools, the 18th Primary School of Limassol (Ayios Antonios) and Public School Miguel Hernández from Madrid, actively contributed to the event.

A key outcome of this first transnational meeting was the development of the foundations for the project's educational guide. Partners defined its structure, themes, and pedagogical approach, ensuring it will be inclusive, accessible, and adaptable across different contexts.

Teachers and educators also shared ideas for creative Activities, with a focus on storytelling, digital tools, and intercultural exchange.

The meeting strengthened cooperation among partners, establishing a clear direction for the next steps. Beyond the work sessions, participants enjoyed Italian cuisine and the beautiful local landscapes.
