We'll tell you about the MilkiWay Conference.

This was far more than a formal event, it was a vibrant celebration of creativity, collaboration, and artistic expression, filled with workshops, music, dance, and theatre with 84 active participants, teachers and educator/artists!

Held over three days in Madrid and hosted by Fundación Yehudi Menuhin España in collaboration with the Spanish Ministry of Inclusion, the Spanish Ministry of Education and University Autónoma of Madrid, the event showcased the Milki-Way project through presentations and interactive sessions. The programme highlighted the role of music in children's holistic development and the importance of intercultural learning in primary education. Two thematic workshops focused on empathy in education and the Milki-Way Teacher Guide, offering practical insights and shared experiences.

As the project comes to an end, partners have developed a strong sustainability plan, with new initiatives already emerging. The project's impact continues to grow, with thousands of users from 29 countries accessing its resources online.
